Glendale
Needs Not
One Big Central, But Many Branch
Postoffices

There seems to be considerable agitation in Glendale over a report that a plan was on foot to locate the postoffice at Brand and Maple.

This matter was taken up with the postmaster, and he denies any knowledge of it.

AS LONG ago as last February it was reported to us that an effort was to be made to move the postoffice to this location, so there have been some things to the report.

The postmaster recently made a statement that Glendale had reached a point where location of the postoffice would not make much difference.

We do not agree with him in this view.

WE MUST admit that the real center of the city is Brand and Broadway, and we think our postoffice should be located not more than four blocks from that center.

This does not mean that Glendale has only one business district of importance, for it would not be true. Broadway and Glendale are important. So is San Fernando and Brand. These districts are entitled to branch offices. It is our opinion, however, that the main office should be located near the hub.

THE board of directors of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce at its Tuesday noon meeting voted to consider the proposition of Glendale annexing to Los Angeles if it could do so as a separate borough.

We do not know just what benefits would accrue, to Glendale in annexing to Los Angeles even if admitted as a separate borough.

Glendale as a separate entity has shown enough progress to satisfy the most skeptical. In fact, it has grown just as fast as it could take care of its new citizens and new industries.

Considering our prosperity with that of those towns that have gone into Los Angeles we find that there is really no comparison. We find most of them dissatisfied with their treatment.

Recently the citizens of Van Nuys, with the hearty support of all the smallest towns who have annexed to Los Angeles, endeavored to secure a representative on the Los Angeles city council. It failed. In a letter from Van Nuys which we received today we found the following statement: "Even though unsuccessful in obtaining representation, the valley gained, through the enormous effort it made, political recognition and standing in Los Angeles, and its needs will henceforth receive the consideration that it will demand and that it has never to any satisfactory degree, received before."

STORIES of lack of consideration come from all the other towns; in fact, the only way of getting anything seems to be through convincing the powers-that-be that considerable votes can be obtained in the direct representation.

Right now Los Angeles is displaying some of this lack of consideration for her sister cities in its treatment of Glendale. It is delaying action, without any apparent reason, on our sewer proposition.

DOES this borough suggestion mean that it is going to refuse us our sewer connection unless we annex? If it does we are not in favor of the proposition. If there is no connection in the two movements we think this is a bad time to bring it up. Let's get something definite on our sewers before we treat with Los Angeles on any other proposition.

OF course there can be no harm in looking into the merits of the borough system but as a basis of trading for sewer there should be nothing doing.

However, since the chamber has gone on record in favor of going deeper into the matter it would be well for a goodly number of our citizens to attend the meeting when the subject comes up, which we understand will be next Friday night when the meeting will be open to the public.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE INVESTIGATES RUMORS ON POST OFFICE SITE

Federal Building for Glendale Finds Voice in the Discussion of the Plan for Leasing for Term of Years Anywhere in City

JACKSON DENIES INTEREST IN LOCATION

Notice of Fight Is Given in the Event New Contract Office Is Located More Than Four Blocks From Brand and Broadway

"I will not have anything to do with recommending to the postal authorities the location of the proposed new site for the Glendale office," said Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson at the weekly luncheon at the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, Tuesday noon. So far as I know, the new site for the office has not been decided upon. I have advertised for bids for that office and anyone has a right to put in a bid. These bids do not go to me, but go, sealed, to the postal authorities in San Francisco.

This statement was made by Postmaster Jackson relative to a report made recently in Glendale that the matter of placing the postoffice on South Brand had been literally cut and dried.

"The news has reached the ears of the board of directors," said Vice President Hewitt, "that the specifications for the proposed office fit exactly into certain vacant property on South Brand boulevard. This is not as it should be. The location of the postoffice is of interest to everyone in Glendale. The office is for all the people. The location is of interest to the chamber of commerce. You have come to this chamber when you wanted assistance along other lines, but on this question you completely sidestepped this body. You have not taken us into your confidence. Where there is smoke there generally is fire."

"I think also," said Director R. F. Kitterman, "that it is of vital interest where the postoffice is located. It is an extremely important matter. It should not be located farther than four blocks from Brand and Broadway."

EDWIN MIMS TO SPEAK AT GRADUATION

Distinguished Educator
From Tennessee to Be
Orator Thursday

Edwin Mims, Ph. D., head of the Education department of Vanderbilt University at Nashville, Tenn., is to be the speaker at the commencement exercises of the class of 1923, Glendale Union high school, Thursday evening, at the Glendale theatre.

In making the announcement Principal Moyse expresses great satisfaction because Prof. Mims is one of the big men in scholastic circles. The California Institute of Technology at Pasadena, which is spending large sums for special lecture courses by men who are famous the world over, persuaded Prof. Mims to come to this coast for special lectures on English, and he has been at "Cal Tech" the past year carrying out that assignment. He will also be an instructor in the U. S. C. summer school.

He is an author, editor, magazine writer and lecturer, and Mr. Moyse declares it will be a great privilege to hear him.

REV. L. B. COMPTON TO SPEAK TONIGHT AT TABERNACLE

Hundreds Attend Week of Special Services
Here

Hundreds of Glendaleans and citizens from surrounding districts are attending the services conducted this week by Rev. L. B. Compton at the new Gospel Tabernacle at the corner of Chestnut and Louise, where opening services were held last Sunday.

Rev. Compton's sermon tonight will be on "The Ninety and Nine Lost Persons Who Need No Repentance." This is considered as one of the "mountain evangelist's best sermons, with a great message to everyone.

K. C. INVITES ALL GLENDALERS TO BIG PICNIC AT PARK

Knights of Columbus are inviting all of Glendale to attend their first annual picnic to be given at Verdugo park, next Sunday.

Joseph Sheehan, one of America's foremost tenors, will render several selections, and members of the Elks club from Elks' lodge, No. 99, consisting of 40 male voices, will be present to entertain. Many prominent speakers and well-known movie stars will be present also.

Dr. Milton H. Berry, who is in charge of arrangements, wishes the public to know that the program has been arranged in the highest order, and that all of Glendale is welcome to join with the K. C.'s in celebrating their first annual picnic.

Arrangements have been made with the Glendale authorities to handle the traffic and parking of cars. Further announcements will be made later.

HELD FOR DRIVING WHILE INTOXICATED

George Ramsdell of Palms, who is charged with driving an automobile while in an intoxicated condition, was arraigned before Judge Lowe Tuesday, and is being held on $500 cash bail or $600 property bond. His preliminary hearing will be held June 26 at 3 o'clock.

HIGH TRUSTEES MUSIC CLUB ACCEPT BID ON NEW CHAIRS TO INSTALL OFFICERS

Inform L. A. Board of Basis for Outside Pupil Admission

The Board of Trustees of Glendale high school met for a six o'clock dinner Tuesday evening and transacted considerable business of a routine nature, took action in regard to receiving outside pupils and elected four new teachers.

The bid of C. F. Weber company of $4.35 for opera chairs for the high school auditorium including installation, was accepted.

A letter was read from the Los Angeles board of education asking upon what basis the Glendale trustees would receive pupils from Eagle Rock. The secretary was instructed to advise the Los Angeles board of the action at a previous meeting to accept outside pupils on an even number of this number at a price to be determined on the basis of the maintenance cost to Glendale high the coming year, the terms of the agreement to be worked out by a joint committee composed of members from both boards.

Mrs. Juanita C. Courtenay, who was born in Mexico and has spent much of her life there, was elected as instructor in Spanish. She comes to Glendale from New York city high school. Miss Hazel Allen of Fresno was also elected as a teacher of Spanish.

Miss Ernestine Kinney of Redondo was elected to a position in the English department.

Mrs. Madge E. Stephenson of Downey, was elected for free-hand art work.

SENIORS DINNER IS SUCCESS

Class Day Program Begins
With Real Banquet in Cafeteria

A tremendous success was the dinner and class day program of the seniors of 1923 served Tuesday evening in the cafeteria of the school at tables lavishly in their decoration of yellow coreopsis and dark blue corn flowers which carried out the class colors of blue and gold.

Covers were laid for 137 and at each plate was a bon bon basket of either blue or yellow and a place card fashioned to represent a perky "23" of dark blue cardboard tipped with gold and bearing the name of the guest in gold.

The delicious dinner prepared under the direction of Miss Ellen Hanson, head of the domestic science department, and served by advanced pupils, included a grape fruit cocktail, creamed chicken paté served with potatoes au gratin, and rolls and butter; Kentucky salad with water and cheese; cream and cake; coffee and salted nuts.

But of course the main interest of the evening was the after-dinner program including as it did the important class will and prophecy written by Eloene Truitt, and a series of clever toasts.

Allan Pollock, the class president, was the toastmaster who introduced the speakers.

LAND PURCHASE REPORT BEFORE SCHOOL BOARD

David Black, business manager for the board of education of Glendale, who at a previous meeting had been authorized to enter into agreements with certain property owners for the purchase of property for school purposes, reported at the meeting of the board last night. He stated that he had reached an agreement with E. C. Dick, who owns property on West Millford street, and who has agreed to sell same for $1900. Mr. Black also reported that he had come to an agreement with Mrs. Grace Horton of 506 South Pacific avenue where by the board can purchase her property, which includes the house on same, for $7500. Both of these owners are ready to enter into escrow.

Richardson D. White reported on the Pelanconi property in the northwest section of the city and a committee composed of Messrs. Hibben, Black and White was appointed, with power to act in the matter.

Alfred F. Priest came before the board with preliminary plans for the Doran street school, which were accepted by the board. He also brought complete plans for the Pacific avenue school, which were accepted. The bids on the Pacific avenue school will be opened at the meeting of the board on July 3.

WEAVER FIGHTS CHICKEN THIEF

When he went into his yard at 12:15 o'clock this morning to see Weaver in his chicken coop, C. E. Weaver of Glendale was hit on the head by someone who used a blunt instrument. He fell to the ground, but quickly rose, whereupon he fired three shots from a revolver at the fleeing man, who disappeared in the darkness. Nothing in the poultry line was taken.

Charles C. Rittenhouse brought the final plans on the Magnolia avenue school, which were accepted by the board.

A petition was received from the property owners on West Millford street, requesting the board to put up a hedge around the school property fifteen feet from the sidewalk, so as to keep the dust from blowing on their property, and also to beautify the school grounds. The board authorized Mr. White to answer the communication and state that in the board's opinion to put up a hedge that far back would greatly cripple the playground space, as well as being a great expense. Plans are already under way for installing facilities for sprinkling the grounds.

The board accepted the resignation of Mrs. Caroline H. Wilkinson, teacher at the Broadway school. The report of the teachers' committee was received, recommending the appointment of the following teachers: Miss Muriel Flewelling and Miss Ruth Davis, elementary teachers; C. E. Willebrandt, physical education supervisor, and also that James G. Baile be made assistant supervisor in manual training. This report was accepted.

As Mr. Black is to have a leave of absence for the summer, the board decided to appoint Walter F. Hansen as temporary business manager during Mr. Black's absence. James F. McManis of the Glendale avenue school was appointed for summer playground work. The board decided that the office force be given a two weeks' vacation and Mr. White three weeks.

Members of the board present at last night's meeting were: D. J. Hibben, president; Dr. P. O. Lucas, E. H. Learned and Mrs. A. A. Barton.

EX-DOUGHBOYS TO BATTLE STANDARD OIL CO. OUTFIT

Glendale ex-doughboys will stage an indoor baseball battle tonight at 7:30 against the Standard Oil aggregation at the Glendale high school grounds. This is the first encounter between the two teams and a hot skirmish is expected to ensue.

Captain Goodman of the Legion urges all ex-service men interested in the game to be on the campus at 7:00, as the game is destined to be an interesting one.

A tentative line-up has been announced for the Legionnaires: Leggett, c; College, p; Preston 1b; Wheelon, 2b; Young, 3b; Clifton, 4b; Porter, Currier, Edwards, outfield.

BURCHETT STREET OPENING PLANS EXPLAINED

Subdividers to Contribute to Making the Cut

More than 25 property owners were present at the meeting last night at the Scott residence, Burchett and Pacific, to further consider the opening of Burchett street, between Brand boulevard and San Fernando road.

The plan as it developed at the meeting last night is to continue Burchett street through the subdivisions which are being opened between Burchett and San Fernando. The question claiming most of the attention at the meeting last night was that of a proper sum to be offered for a strip of about 250 feet at Pacific and Burchett, where it is proposed that a group of those directly interested in the continuation of Burchett, purchase the necessary amount of property to be used for street purposes.

T. W. Watson, who is subdividing 10 acres and the Edwards & Wilkey company, who are subdividing Kenilworth Park, comprising 100 acres, are agreed to cooperate with the project and lay out streets in the tracts accordingly. This would practically open Burchett street to San Fernando road, and with the consent of the remaining property owners concerned, would mean that the way would be opened without necessitating condemnation proceedings.

According to O. M. Newby, who is also actively interested, future plans include the additional extension of Burchett east to Monterey road, making a through street from San Fernando to Verdugo road, and thereby opening up an avenue to traffic in the northern section of the city.

CITY BUDGET IS PRESENTED TO THE PUBLIC

Committee Appointed to Consider the Tentative
Estimates

The proposed Glendale budget formed the topic for discussion at a special meeting of the Glendale city council at the city hall this morning, when a committee of prominent Glendale citizens were invited to be present and pass up on the provisions of the budget, which has been under consideration by the city council for the past weeks.

Up to noon today, this committee had gone over the provisions in the general budget, and in the park budget, and were entering discussion over the question of having community service provided for in the budget.

This item had not been included in the budget, and was brought to the attention of the council by V. M. Hollister. Upon entering into discussion, it developed that three members of the council did not favor having the $300 a month which was appropriated last year by the council for community service, designated as salary for Ernest Tucker, leader of the Community Service. The council agreed that $300 should be set aside for this purpose, but that all of that amount should not be designated as salary, but a part should be set aside for expenses. The final decision was made to include community service in the proposed budget, designating a salary of $270 a month for Tucker and $30 for expenses.

Those who gathered around the council table to discuss the budget included V. M. Hollister, Ed Hewitt, George Bentley, P. J. Hayselden, A. R. Eastman, Dan Campbell, E. Sanders, secretary of the chamber of commerce; C. D. Lusby, W. Baird, W. L. Truitt, J. W. Pearson, Jesse Smith, president of the chamber of commerce; Peter L. Ferry, Dr. Calderwood, Mayor Sweeney Robinson, Councilmen Hall, Horn and Davis; City Attorney Ray Morrow, City Manager Reeves, Controller Salesbury, City Clerk Van Wie, Judge Lowe, Alex Mitchell, H. A. Wilson, Dr. Jessie A. Russell, Earl Welch and Truant Officer L. T. Rowley.

W. L. TWINING OUTLINES PLAN FOR ADVERTISING CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Declares He Must Have Right to Appoint Own Committee of Live Wires and Be Unhampered by Restrictions on the Work

PROPOSED TO GET OUT BOOKLET AT ONCE

Plans to Graduate Expenditures and Reserve Funds for Good Propositions That May Be Presented During the Year

The new publicity committee of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, appointed at the weekly luncheon Tuesday noon, is as follows: W. L. Twining, chairman; P. J. Hayselden, L. H. Wilson, City Manager William H. Reeves and J. R. Case of the William H. Leimert company.

"There is only one condition on which I will remain chairman of the advertising committee of the Chamber of Commerce," said W. L. Twining, "and that is that I have the right to name the members of my committee. I'm tired of figureheads. I want someone with me who will work. There mustn't be any strings on me. I'm not going to have my hands tied. If I can have the men I want we will put this advertising thing over big. Now it's up to you."

Director Ferry moved, seconded by Vice-President Hewitt, that Mr. Twining be permitted to name his own committee. The motion carried.

"Now," said Mr. Twining, "if you will give me some money to work with we'll show you how to put the thing over. The first thing we want is enough money to get out the booklet that has been hanging fire for several weeks. This booklet should be gotten out, and then we should allow a given amount to be expended every month during the year—not spend it all in a lump and then have to turn down some mighty good propositions afterward. We don't want to go broke, but always keep a little in reserve."

Hewitt, as chairman of the budget committee, it would be a good plan for my committee to get the money together and to see just how much we have to spend for advertising so that we will know how far we can go. We should then map out a program and stick to it."

As a first step the publicity committee was authorized to spend not to exceed $1500 for 20,000 booklets descriptive of Glendale. When the budget has been prepared, it is understood, a program of outside newspaper advertising will be carried on.

The chamber decided not to participate in the Monroe Centennial which will be held in Los Angeles soon, and in which that body was asked to make a booth.

In line with the recommendations made by the Advance Committee of the Los Angeles chamber of commerce, the following ways and means committee was appointed: A. R. Eastman, Dan Campbell, Herman Nelson, R. F. Kitterman, D. H. Smith, all bankers of this city.

As chairman of the severe committee, Vice-President Hewitt reported that there is a holdup somewhere along the line, and that he does not know where. The matter has been referred to the Los Angeles city attorney, and there it is being held up. The official being that he is too busy to get to it.

"I do not know whether this delay is the work of the local wrecking crew or not," said Mr. Hewitt, "but there will surely be a show-down within ten days."

The amount of $289.08 was ordered paid to the collector of internal revenue in Los Angeles, as war tax on the tickets sold at the recent exposition, and Secretary Sanders was instructed to see the revenue collector personally and see if a rebate could not be secured.

On motion of Director L. H. Wilson, Vice-President Postmaster Hayselden was authorized to act as representative of the chamber to the coming postal employees' convention in San Francisco, the expense not to exceed $35.

The 289 new members of the chamber, who were secured during the recent drive, were voted into that body at Tuesday's meeting.

The proposition of the chamber taking out a membership in the children's home society of Los Angeles was turned down.

An invitation was received from the east side citizens' chamber of commerce of Los Angeles, asking that representatives of the Glendale chamber be present at the meeting in Los Angeles on June 23. The matter was referred to the highway and bridges committee of the chamber.

C. OF C. TO CONSIDER ANNEXATION

C. D. Lusby Favors the Borough Plan of Union With Los Angeles

At its meeting Tuesday noon the Glendale Chamber of Commerce went on record as being willing to consider the proposition of Glendale joining Los Angeles if it could do so as a separate borough. The board voted, therefore, to make this matter one of the leading items of discussion at the open meeting of the chamber to be held Friday evening, at which time Attorney Bert Woodard will be asked to be present and to give his views on the matter.

The proposition was brought to the attention of the chamber by Director C. D. Lusby, who, in his remarks, said:

"I think the matter of having Los Angeles' new city charter, which is now in the course of building, so framed as to enable that city to take in the outside territory as separate boroughs, is a very important one for Glendale. I would be in favor of Glendale joining Los Angeles in the form of a borough. It would be the biggest thing for Southern California if the towns and cities suburban to Los Angeles could be joined to that city in the form of boroughs. I am heartily in favor of this board going deeper into this matter."

LOCAL FIRM WINS OAKMONT COUNTRY CLUB CONTRACT

Bids for the new clubhouse of the Oakmont Country club at Sparr Heights, were considered at a meeting of the directors held Tuesday night, June 19, at 8 o'clock, at the club office in the Monarch building. The bid of Edwards, Wilkey & Dixon, Los Angeles and Glendale, of $70,292, time required four and one-half months, was accepted. The work will commence on recording the contract.

The bids received were: Crisman-Palladine Co., Glendale (time required 8 months), $68,358. Edwards, Wilkey & Dixon, Los Angeles and Glendale (time required 4 1/2 months), $70,292.

Elmer Elliott, general contract, plus lowest segregated bids, including Newton Electric Co., Coker & Taylor, Henry Hooper, all of Glendale, $73,313.

Harris & Thayer of Los Angeles submitted a percentage bid. The total cost of the building, unfurnished, will amount to $85,000 when segregated equipment contracts are included, and swimming pool provided. Roy L. Kent company architectural department will supervise the construction.

Oakmont Country club directors present at this meeting included H. S. Webb, president; H. M. Parker, vice-president and general manager; Noel C. Edwards, secretary; A. L. Baird, Harry E. Hall, F. J. W. Henry and C. C. Cooper, directors. Charles Cressy, architect, represented the Roy L. Kent company.

A finance committee composed of C. C. Cooper, F. J. W. Henry, Harry Hall, H. S. Webb and A. L. Baird was appointed.

HI PRINCIPALS TO ATTEND BIG N.E.A. MEET

Moyses and A. L. Ferguson to Journey to Oakland

Principal George U. Moyes of Glendale High and Vice-Principals Mrs. Moyes and Mr. A. L. Ferguson will go north the last of the month to attend the sessions of the N. E. A. at Oakland. After it closes the Moyes will remain for a week or two's visit in the bay cities and will then return to Glendale to wrestle with problems connected with the new buildings and programs for the courses of study.

One of the things to which Mrs. Moyes proposes to devote time this summer is the preparation and printing of a G. U. H. handbook or manual giving everything it is necessary for students to know in regard to new courses of study, programs, school regulations, school organizations and their officers, in short a vade mecum for their guidance which should be of convenient size and each student will receive a free copy on enrolling. If that copy is lost, the student will have to pay 50 cents for another one.

HI CLASS HOLDS PICNIC AT PARK

About sixty boys and girls of the public speaking classes of Glendale high who have been under the instruction of Miss Mary Gladys Corry had a picnic supper at Brookside park Tuesday night. It was the outgrowth of a triangular debate in which it was understood that the losing teams would entertain the winners, who proved to be Bonnie Jean Lockwood, Elsie Whitney and Ross Russell.

The losers were the second and fifth period class teams, Jack Finch, Ramona Bronson and Joyce Farr; Mary Jo Phillips, Don McMillan and Maurine Pemberton. A big committee on arrangements was named which included Pauline Miller, Jo Ruth Clark, Velma Bolton, Bertha Brown, Jack Finch and Carolyn Ayers.

They were well chaperoned by Miss Corry, Mr. Burlage, Mr. Butterfield, Miss Shattuck, Mr. Lockwood and Mr. Lewis.

Games, swimming and eats entertained them and they returned in good spirits about 8 p. m.

Mrs. A. H. Cleveland of 363 West Lomita avenue is quite seriously ill at her home.

What Our Folks Are Doing

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hunter and sons Billy and Donald of 107 East Lomita and Attorney and Mrs. James F. McBryde of 111 East Broadway, spent a delightful week end at Los Turas Lake club.

HAVE NO TROUBLE LEARNING TO COOK

"The professional joke-makers still hold on to the belief that every woman has a hard time learning how to cook," says O. J. Merrill of Coker & Taylor, 209 South Brand boulevard. "But for the rest of us that bubble was pricked long ago. We still smile sympathetically at the recollections of the little bride of a generation ago whose progress along the culinary path was marked by scorched pies, burned fingers, and tears, but we accept a dinner invitation from the modern novice cook without hesitation."

"This state of affairs is not due to any change in women themselves, but to a change in conditions. Twenty years ago a girl went to housekeeping with a notebook full of rules for making Aunt Hetty's delicious dishes, and a huge coal range. To an inexperienced girl, the problem of making that stove hot enough for some things and cool enough for others, even getting it to go at all, seemed as big a job as managing a steam locomotive. So what Aunt Hetty's pinch of this and about so much of that didn't finish, the stove completed. No wonder we have never ceased feeling sorry for the little bride."

"The modern bride advises us to send our sympathy where it is needed, not to waste it on her. To begin with, she has made considerable of a success of everything she has undertaken, from playing golf to being private secretary, and she has no idea of failing at this new job of housekeeping. For a cookbook she selects the tested recipes of a food authority, every tell her, clearly and concisely, every step in food preparation, and as a final precaution, she selects a substantial, well-built gas range as her most dependable helper in learning how to cook. As a general rule, she chooses one with a Lorain oven heat control, so that by a turn of a red wheel the oven is as hot as she wants it, and stays so," concluded Mr. Merrill.

GLENDALF FOLK ON AUTO TRIP TO SEATTLE

A. G. Lucas and wife of 640 Milford, accompanied by Mrs. A. G. Wilson of Pasadena, started this morning for Seattle, Wash., to spend three months with Errol Lucas and wife. Errol is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Lucas and his wife is Mrs. Wilson's daughter. The party will camp along the route and make a leisurely trip. They will stop for short visits in Portland, Forest Grove and Hillsboro, Oregon. Errol Lucas, who was formerly a resident of Glendale, is now sales manager for the Seattle Wholesale Grocery company.

FIRST METHODIST SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC JUNE 23

The First M. E. church Sunday school of Glendale, holds its annual picnic Saturday, June 23, at Monte Vista park. All who are well most at the church at 1 p. m. and will proceed in line through town and then to the park, where the program committee has a lively afternoon mapped out. All who have machines are asked to bring them and the transportation committee will provide for those who have no way of reaching the park. Instead of basket lunches a committee is preparing refreshments. All who are associated with the church in any way are invited.

Cincinnati Folks Pleased With City

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Mordorf were dinner guests Tuesday night, June 19, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Siebert, 343 West Doran street, Glendale. Mr. and Mrs. Mordorf are visitors from Cincinnati and after spending eight months in California are returning east to settle up their business affairs. They will come back to Glendale to make their home here. Mr. Mordorf said last night in a farewell talk to a group of friends who gathered at the home of the Sieberts "after traveling about eight months in different parts of California I find that Glendale is the appealing place."

During the evening "500" was played. First prizes were awarded to Mr. A. C. Mordorf and Jacob Hartman and second prizes to Mrs. Winnie Wisman and Fred Doeblich. Miss Hilda May was awarded consolation prize.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Mordorf, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hartman, Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Evans, Mr. and Mrs. C. Vogel, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Doeblich, Mr. and Mrs. George Hyne, Howard Richter, Stanley Vogel, Miss Hilda May, Miss Ruth Vogel, Billy Siebert and the host and hostess.

Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served, after which all gave the Mordorfs a hearty farewell wish for an early return to California.

MRS. W. E. EVANS POSTPONES FLINTRIDGE GARDEN PARTY

Mrs. W. E. Evans has recalled invitations to the garden party she was to have given at Flintridge Country club Thursday afternoon, because of the uncertain condition of J. G. ## Nazarene Revival Grows in Interest

The attendance and interest in the Nazarene revival meetings is on the increase. A large crowd was present at the service last night. Rev. Scheidegger led the song service, with Mrs. West at the piano. Miss Lura Leason also assisted with her violin. Mr. Harry Hull was the soloist last night. Rev. Swaney selected as his text the 11th chapter of Hebrews and the 5th verse, which reads: "By faith Enoch was translated that he should not see death; and was not found, because God had translated him; for before his translation he had this testimony that he pleased God."

In eloquent words and with pithy epigrams, Rev. Swaney ascribed Enoch's walk with his God. Rev. Swaney said "Enoch and God were walking along the road one day when Death came riding up the road on a white horse and God took Enoch to heaven with him, and Enoch was with his God." The service this evening gives promise of being one of the best yet. There will be special music in addition to the song service. A prayer service for the success of the campaign is held at 7:15, followed by the sermon at 7:30. Come tonight.

Summer school will open at Wilson avenue next Monday with Miss Grider in charge. Spanish, Arithmetic, English, History, Geography and Reading will be offered to seventh and eighth grade pupils of Glendale. Tuition for two or more subjects—$15; for one subject, $10—Adv.

PUBLIC SCHOOL GAMES TROPHIES ARE PRESENTED

Tuesday morning Supervisor Albert Blanford and Miss Alice Foulke, assistant supervisor in charge of girls' activities, visited all the schools having teams that had won championships in playground ball schedules, and presented banners to them.

Central avenue won the seniors girls' championship under the coaching of Miss Olive Taylor. Pacific Avenue girls under Miss Pawley, won the junior championship.

Grand View won the junior boys' championship.

Columbus avenue under Miss Nelson's coaching won the intermediate boys' championship. To the Broadway boys under Mrs. Williams went the senior championship.

In the tournament between the two intermediate schools, Wilson avenue won cups for both boys and girls and also the school cup in the playground ball schedule.

K. OF P. ENTERTAINS MANY VISITORS TO LODGE

One of the largest number to attend a meeting of the Knights of Pythias was present at the regular weekly meeting held last night at the Knights of Pythias hall. Delegates from Pasadena, Van Nuys, Alhambra, Hollywood and Los Angeles were present. The rank of knight was conferred upon two esquires, members of the local order.

HIGH TEACHERS TO SCATTER ON VACATIONS

Where They Will Spend
the Summer Months.
This Year

When final has been written on the school year at Glendale high, there will be a great scattering of the instructors who constitute the faculty.

Miss Jeanette Abel, whose home is in San Francisco, expects to return to it and to spend some time sketching at Monterey.

Miss Carey Ballard, the gym teacher, asks no pleasanter fate than to return to her home in Carpinteria.

Frederick Bornecamp will not be seen at Glendale high next year as he goes east to spend the year in study at Harvard.

Mrs. Florence Knight, head of the gym department, will also be missed, having secured a year's leave of absence to take post graduate work at Columbia university.

Mr. and Mrs. James Clark will spend their summer in Canada, returning to Glendale in the fall.

Miss Mary Gladys Corry, the debating coach, and Miss Aileen Renli plan to go north together for summer work at the state university.

Miss Carrie Evelyn Haney and Miss Beatrice Helmer, who live in the bay district near San Francisco, will spend at least a part of their summer at home.

Miss Jessie Hill goes east.

Miss Clara Lauderdale will summer in Wisconsin.

George Lockwood and family will divide the summer between the mountains and the beach.

Morgan Smith and family will motor to Yosemite for a two week's stay.

After the N. E. A. convention, A. L. Ferguson will probably join his wife at Santa Barbara where her parents live.

Miss Bessie Field, a member of the high school staff of instructors in the history department, plans to spend a week or two at the beach and possibly drive north and also to San Diego for a few week's stay. She will put in a part of the summer as a teacher in the summer Bible school of the Glendale Presbyterian church which will open July 2, and of which Miss Mary McDill has been elected principal. Miss McDill is now at Asilomar.

After summer work at U. S. C. Albert Blanford, who has been supervisor of physical training in the Glendale city schools for several years, will take up work as the principal of the La Crescenta school in the fall.

LODGES CLUBS - CHURCHES

PRESBYTERIAN LADIES GATHER AT THE CHURCH

The ladies' all-day meeting held at the First Presbyterian church of Glendale yesterday was well attended.

Circle 4 had charge of the program, with Mrs. W. J. Smith as chairman. Mrs. Thompson lead the devotional, and Mrs. G. F. Snyder had charge of arranging the program, which included the study of home and foreign missions in the Philippine, Cuban, Porto Rican and Japanese fields. Mrs. D. F. Rae made a splendid report from the Presbyterian, and Mrs. Draper, accompanied by Mrs. Forrester, rendered a contralto solo. Mrs. Haystead, newly appointed Christian educator of the First Presbyterian church, gave an outline of the work to be carried on, and requested the co-operation of all present.

A delicious luncheon was served by Circle 10. The menu included two kinds of sandwiches, fried beefs, potato salad, tea, coffee, and hot black berry pie. The next meeting will be held on July 17, when a picnic is being arranged to take place at Verdugo Woodlands, with Mrs. D. G. Lemon in charge.

MUSIC SECTION TO HAVE DANCE AT RATTRAY HOME

As there has seemed to be some misunderstanding regarding the date of the garden party which is being given by the music section of the Tuesday Afternoon club at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Rattray, 226 Kenneth road, the committee is again announcing that it will take place next week, Wednesday evening, June 27, when a program to be provided by Mrs. Pearl Keller Brattain will be given on the grounds from 8:30 to 9. This will be followed by bridge and "500" in the house and dancing on the tennis court for which the Kelly Shline orchestra will play. The party is being given as a benefit for the club piano fund.

CHAPTER C J CLOSSES ITS SEASON'S WORK

Members of Chapter C, J. P. E. O., will hold their last meeting, until after the summer vacation, tomorrow at the home of Mrs. Durham W. Porter, 540 Spencer place, Glendale. There will be a box luncheon at 12 o'clock, business session at 1 o'clock, followed by a program. All members are urged to be present.

ST. MARK'S GUILD OFFICERS TO MEET

Members of the board of directors and officers of St. Mark's guild will hold a meeting at the church parlors tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock. This will be followed by the business luncheon at 11:30 o'clock and the regular guild meeting in the afternoon at 2:30.

CARNATION LODGE INITIATES FOUR

A class of four was initiated Tuesday night at the meeting of Carnation lodge of Rebekahs, held at the I. O. O. F. hall at Broadway and Orange street, Glendale. The new members are Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Rich, Miss Bernice Coffey and J. B. McBride. This was the last regular meeting over which Mrs. Loretta Schwitters, retiring noble grand of the lodge, presided. Installation of officers will take place on July 3. The installing officers will be Mrs. John Strother, district deputy president, and Mrs. Loretta Schwitters, district deputy grand marshal. The new officers are: Mrs. Evelyn Hall, noble grand; Mrs. Marjorie Pease, vice-grand; Mrs. Anna Deane, recording secretary; Mrs. Mabel Goodfellow, financial secretary; Mrs. Winnie Hardley, treasurer.

At the close of the meeting last night refreshments were served. A meeting of the Rebekah Afternoon club will be held next Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Madge Hoffman, 343 West Windsor road. All Rebekahs are invited to attend.

P. T. A. OF GRAND VIEW CLOSSES YEAR

The last regular meeting of the year was held yesterday afternoon by the Grand View Parent-Teacher association at the Grand View school, Glendale, when a large number of parents were present.

An interesting and entertaining program, principally by the school children, was rendered on the campus. The numbers were as follows:

Bouquets were presented by Mrs. Guy W. Finney, president, to Miss Vera Sinclair, Mrs. Ella Gray, Miss Helen Reynolds, and Miss Sara Dunn, principal and faculty members of the school. Refreshments of ice cream, cake and punch were served by the courtesy committee consisting of Mrs. J. W. Mair, chairman, and Mrs. George N. Fitch, Mrs. R. Nicols and Mrs. Cole.

NEW CURRENT IN GLENDALE LIVES

Gordon James Current is the name of the baby boy which was born to Mr. and Mrs. James H. Current of 405 East Harvard street on Friday, June 15, 1923, at a Burbank hospital. Mrs. Current's parents and sisters, Mr. and Mrs. E. Y. Porter and Misses Mildred and Sylvia Porter of Riverside, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Colson of 405 East Harvard street, coming over to see the new arrival.

JUNE ROMANCE

Muriel Bowen, will act as the bride's sole attendant. The bride will wear a lovely white wedding gown and tulle veil, and will carry a shower bouquet of sweet peas and bridal roses. Forty guests have been invited to witness the ceremony. Immediately after the nuptials the happy couple will endeavor to slip away for their honeymoon, keeping their destination a secret. Their home will be at Mr. Clauson's Upland ranch.

BOWEN - CLAUSON NUPTIALS SET FOR TONIGHT

Popular Glendale Girl to Wed Owner of Upland at Central M. E.

Tonight at 8 o'clock Miss Muriel Bowen, popular daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Bowen of 212 West Garfield, will become the bride of Edward Clauson, Upland ranch owner and prominent resident in that district.

The wedding ceremony, which is to be performed by Rev. V. Hunter Brink, pastor of the Central Avenue Methodist church, is to take place at the home of the bride's parents. The home will be appropriately decorated in pink and white carnations and roses in settings of greenery.

CERRITOS AVENUE P. T. A. CLOSSES YEAR'S WORK

Final reports for the year were made by committee chairmen and officers of the Cerritos avenue, Glendale, Parent-Teacher association, which held its last meeting yesterday afternoon until October, when the newly elected officers will take charge. Mrs. H. S. Goldsborough was in charge of the meeting. A short program of songs, folk dances, etc., was given by the children of the fifth and sixth grades.

During the year the association has refurbished the principal's office for a rest room for the teachers. It has also purchased a carpet for the kindergarten room.

Mrs. John Cleland, hospitality chairman, served refreshments of ice cream and cake as a surprise for the teachers and new officers. The meeting was very well attended.

TROPICO PRESBYTERIAN LADIES' AID ENTERTAINED

Mrs. Sheldon, Mrs. Prescott and Mrs. Hyer entertained the Ladies' Aid of the Tropico Presbyterian church Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Hyer, 1905 Gardena avenue. Considerable work was accomplished and funds raised for the work committee, in anticipation of the bazaar to be held this fall.

The affair was also an informal reception for Mrs. Wilcox, one of the members who is going east. She was presented with a little token of appreciation of the work she has done for the society. About 17 were present.

CANADIAN CLUB TO MEET THURSDAY NIGHT

The Glendale Canadian club members will meet tomorrow, Thursday night at 8 o'clock at the Knights of Pythias hall, corner of South Brand boulevard and Park avenue. After a short business session there will be cards and dancing. Refreshments will be served. All Canadians are cordially invited to attend.

DISTINGUISHED SPEAKER TO ADDRESS LEGION MEET

Walter A. Grayson, chairman of June programs for Glendale post No. 127, American Legion, has secured as the speaker for the meeting on Friday night, Dr. Roy Maling, head of the political science department of the University of Southern California. Dr. Maling will speak on "The Japanese Question."

MRS. HALL PRESIDES AT G. A. R. AUXILIARY MEETING

Mrs. Dora Hall, vice president, was in charge of the regular meeting of Auxiliary No. 7 to N. P. Banks post No. 22, Sons of Veterans, held last night at the American Legion hall at 610 East Broadway, Glendale. Plans were discussed for the social club meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. W. M. Crawford, 800 South Central avenue, on July 13.

SONG LEADERS ENJOY VISIT TO ROWLEY HOME

Members of the Glendale Community Service Song Leaders' club met last night at the home of L. T. Rowley, 334 West Vine street. The evening was spent in singing and directing of singing. This will probably be the last meeting of the club until after the summer vacation period.

O. E. S. SOCIAL CLUB TO MEET AT 7 TEMP.

The O. E. S. Social club is meeting today at the Masonic Temple for an all-day session of work on hospital garments. Mrs. Wyvel is president of the organization and Mrs. George Tennant will be hostess at the luncheon served at noon.

SPARKLING SHOW OF VAUDEVILLE
DUE AT T. D. & L.

The vaudeville menu at the T. D. and L. for tomorrow, complete from soup to fish, will contain five acts of mental agility, presented by the following:
Sargent and Marilyn, (courtesy Orpheum circuit), favorite vaudeville entertainers.
Russell and Titus, present their hilarious comedy skit, "Scottie."
Alfredo & Co., a hilarious aerial laugh novelty.
Betty, Lou Hart, offers "The Gingham Girl."
Bandys presents "Jazz."
On the screen will be "Trimmed in Scarlet," a Universal film, being the story of child love for its mother and the equal return of the mother's love for the child. Yet the triteness of such a theme is ironed out smoothly by Jack Conway, who directed the picture.
Kathryn Williams in the role of the mother, originally played by Maxine Elliott in William Hurlbut's Broadway stage success, displays all the versatility and emotional ability that have made her a screen favorite.

Rochester Doctor Achieves Remarkable Success with New Prescription. Must Give Absolute Relief or Money Back

It has remained for a well known Rochester doctor to find a real remedy for Piles. Years of patient, painstaking effort on his part has resulted in a prescription that will actually heal Piles and absorb them never to return.

This doctor says no man or woman need suffer another hour from any pain arising from Hemorrhoids or Piles now that he has made arrangements with leading druggists to dispense this wonderful prescription known as MOAVA SUPPOSITORIES for a moderate price on the money back if dissatisfied plan.

You'll be amazed to see how quickly it acts. Blessed relief often comes in an hour; even in cases of long standing with profuse bleeding really wonderful results have been accomplished.

Special Note—Out of town sufferers: 60 cents mailed to Noava Products Co. at Rochester, N. Y. will bring a box by Parcel Post and guaranteed—Adv.

SENIOR CLASS BEQUESTS AND
PROPHECY READ*Graduation Banquet Hits
High Note of Appreciation

Commencement week would not be a perfectly rounded period of joy for majestic seniors if it did not include a class day and a program which contained a class will and a class prophecy. And so this year, when seniors are saying goodbye to the roofs that have sheltered them since as scrubs they entered the classic halls, they have planted the ivy, watered it with their tears, and enjoyed a class will and a class prophecy written by Eloene Truitt, who has never shirked when responsibilities were shoved her way. They were read last night in the program which followed the class dinner and ran as follows:

Class Will
"We, the members of the senior class of Glendale Union High school, in the County of Los Angeles and State of California, having been proved to be of undoubted superiority of mind, finding ourselves overburdened with knowledge, and the end fast approaching, do hereby make, ordain, publish and declare this to be our last Will and Testament."

Article I
To the Glendale Union High school we bequeath another large, enthusiastic, hard-working, dignified and well behaved senior class for next year.

Article II
To Principal Moyse we bequeath the privilege of arming the faculty with bean shooters for next year's guard duty in the halls and on the grounds.

To Mrs. Moir we bequeath our kindness and dignity.
To Coach Hayhurst we bequeath more time to spend with his family.

To Miss Hanson we bequeath a few more easy ways of making money.
To Mr. Brewster we bequeath our ability to make people laugh.

To Miss Mauson we bequeath our intelligence and wit.
To Mr. Burlage another class of senior girls to be vamped by.

To Miss Switzer Our kind and loving dispositions.
To Mr. Borncamp Our best wishes for his future success as a lawyer.

To Miss Poppy A new edition of sentences and thesaurus.
To Mr. Ferguson Our ability to back propositions.

To Miss Ballard Our daintiness and grace.
To Mr. Brown Our capacity to organize.

To Miss McGregor A head for mathematics.
To Mr. Webb Our superiority of mind.

To Mrs. Gibson Our musical appreciation.
To Mr. Smith Our energy and pep.

To Mrs. Moyse Our kindheartedness.
Article III
To the Classes
To the junior class we leave our good standing with the teachers and our much loved books.

To the sophomores All our superior knowledge and the right to have a good time.
To the freshmen A book entitled, "How to Become a Successful Senior," written by the summer class of '23.

Article IV
To the members of the high school we, the following, do bequeath some of our loved and some of our unloved possessions.

1. Floyd Kinnan, do bequeath my spotless reputation to Dewey McCourt.
2. I. Elizabeth Dinsmore, leave my willowy slenderness to Pauline Miller.

3. I. Rebecca Hodge, leave my shiny hair to Cecil Chase.
4. I. Fred Peck, give my gift of gab to George Karcher.

5. I. Gertrude Heideman, bequeath the quality of my voice to Winifred Parker, knowing that she will handle it with care.
6. I. Ivan Dow, bestow upon Bub Carver, my bashfulness.

7. I. Helen Sherwood, leave my ability to make flowery speeches to Florence McLaughlin.
8. I. George Jansen, do bequeath my beloved gift of arguing to Charles Worley.

9. I. Edith Bush, leave my superfluous flesh to Mildred Finn.
10. I. Cary White, do kindly bestow upon Johnny Lovell my good looks.

11. I. Paul Edmonds, leave my loud and boisterous ways to Valera Trimmer.
12. I. Frances Wyman, do bequeath my math-hatred to Evelyn Hunt.

13. I. Burt Aageson, surrender my gentle voice to Arden Ginger.
14. I. Margaret Eckles, leave my art of "getting by" to Dorothy Young.

15. I. Richard Kelsy, do bequeath my enormous appetite to Don Daner.
16. I. Orrell Hoster, will my height to Marie Gray.

17. I. Buss Roach, forsake Margaret Longley to any one desiring same.
18. I. Elizabeth Higgins, do bequeath my perpetual restlessness to Ronald West.

19. I. Charlotte Winsel, leave my dramatic talent to Isabel Tousey knowing she will guard and treasure it.
20. I. Alice Petty, do bequeath my frivolous beauty to Onis Danielson.

21. I. George Juett, leave my kind and loving disposition to Katie Guthrie, hoping she will make use of it.
22. I. Loren Patrick, leave my as sarcastic ways to Miss Soper.

23. I. Frank Lerchen, leave my everlasting giggle to Roma Staub.
24. I. Lois Olmstead, leave my baby stare to Marie Hearnshaw.

25. I. Allen Pollock, do bequeath executive ability to the president of the new senior class.
26. We, Gladys Peckham and Mabel Gardner, leave our glad expression and imposing stature to Alexandria Bagley and Alice Hill.

We, Edward Stockbridge, John Simpson, Carlisle Bailey and Sullivan Chase leave our popularity with the women to Harold Jones.

It witness whereof we have hereunto signed and affixed our seal the twenty-second day of June, in the year of our Lord, one thousand, nine hundred and twenty-three. The class of 1923.

ELOENE TRUITT, Notary.
Witnesses:
1. Lotta Noise.
2. Iva Grouch.

CLASS PROPHECY

Reincarnation of Seniors of Glendale High

It was warm, very warm, and it was not necessary to look at the thermometer to know it was getting warmer.

The small pond under the trees was covered with a green scum and the grass that had been so green and fresh with the morning dew, seemed parched and dry.

Suddenly the underbrush crackled and the head of a deer looked through the branches. He peered anxiously around and seeing no one in sight came out into the open and called "Carry!" where are you?

There was an answering bubble from the pond and a large green frog climbed on a lily leaf and croaked: "That was very inconsiderate of you. Don't you know I always study dramatics on hot days? It's really the only way to keep cool. My! But isn't it hot? It's every bit as hot as June 21, 1923."

"It is June 21," replied the deer. "If you weren't so stupid you'd remember that today's the one hundredth anniversary. Listen! Isn't that Jansen?"

A deep roar filled the woods and the huge form of a mountain lion crashed through the opening and stood before them.

"Where are the rest?" he demanded. "That secretary?"

"Here I am," said a sneaky voice followed by a quick answered him. "Won't you sharpen my quill?"

The lion yawned. "Dear me, you're a duck, aren't you? How did you happen?"

"No," said Frank Wyman, "I'm a goose. Isn't that humiliating? My! But you're a lion at last. I read about the mine explosion. You were so young, too, only eighteen. I recognized you right away, the eyes, I suppose. Oh my! There's a mouse, Eleanor Foster, I mean."

The mapie gave a terrified screech and hurriedly flew out of reach.

"I-I," the mouse began meekly. "I didn't intend to scare you. I'm Margaret Richardson, you know. I thought I would come to the meeting. I haven't seen any of you since I ended my career in the Oregon cyclone in 1940."

Upon hearing this an owl stepped out of his gloomy abode with such an air of wisdom as to cause the secretary to start with amazement.

"Why, if there isn't Fred Gleason," she exclaimed to a swan standing near her. You remember, Lois Olmstead, he had a fatal attack of brain fever after the completion of his treatise on the evolution of the tick to the flea."

But the swan's attention was elsewhere. "Just look," she whispered. "That's Helen Sherwood over there, I'm sure; that parrot with the green tail and red wings."

"Yes," cried the secretary. "Her husband made lots of money after he married her. Let's go over and talk to Bill. I hadn't the least idea he was a goat."

Walker, the goat, was explaining why he was late. During his expressive speech an enormous grizzly stepped quietly into the group. "I wish I had published a history of my congressional life," said he.

"I rise to a point of order," said the owl. Mr. Lewis Steel was the owl. The rest of the sentence was lost in a chorus of caws as five black crows flew down in the midst.

"Yes," spoke the crew at the head of the line. "Everybody would know we had all been school teachers and that we are Margery Howard, Nellie Grove, Florida Craig, Rita Gilbert and Hazel Reed."

"Well," said Hazel, looking around to see who was present. "I know six people who won't be here today, Mr. Edmonds, for one. Just think! He's still a man. He made such a fine Sunday school teacher that when his first body grew old his soul was just transferred to a younger one and now he's doing it all over again. Then Marion Rowley, gym teacher that was and a fox that is, got her foot caught in a steel trap. We saw her as she passed. We also saw Miss Phillippi, the cat, chasing three poor little mice—Gertrude Peterson, Charlotte Cavell and Mary Ball.

"Then," piped another crow, "we passed David Foits. He wanted to cry but couldn't miss oyster time as he is manufacturing pearls."

Margaret Morgan, a striped peacock, informed the crowd that the snake, Adele Miles; the chipmunk, Alice Farrow; the seal, Rebecca Hodge; and the bunnies, Lois Welsh and Viola Streit, would be late as they were quarrelling as to who would cross the pond via the ferry, first. "Old Doc Bryant runs it, you know."

"There's Fluey," growled the lion. "Now, young man, let me warn you. There mustn't be any monkey business."

"I can't help monkeying," replied the ape. "I belong to that family. I was born that way."

On saying this he walked over to the cigarette tree and found the three beavers, Graham Latta, Lyle McAllister and John Fraley; Ruth Hunt, the camel, and Elizabeth Dinsmore, the elephant, conversing about their past history. The three beavers, having been partners in a rubber concern, had accumulated wealth and lived to a ripe old age of 22.

Ladies, walk up stairs and buy for less. THE MAE BARR SHOPPE, Room 7, 114 West Broadway—Adv.

graduating from high school, married a millionaire and died unhappy.
Betty Higgins, a sober, brown-coated wren, was sober in attire only for she smiled her old time gaiety at the deer and began to compare notes with Mil Thompson, a white leghorn hen.

"Really, Betty," said the hen. "I think you were dreadfully lucky. I couldn't find any one with more than $500,000, and of course, that wouldn't do, so look what I became. Just what I am now, an old hen."

The hen pecked at an old stump where a book worm was absorbed in an old copy of "Silas Mariner."

"Tom Morgan, stud studying or I'll eat you up. Just because you taught English at Harvard is no sign you should study it now."

The worm closed his book, looked up and then yelled: "For goodness sake, scare Mr. Widdows off. I know he's going to step on me."

NOW YOU CAN SWAP-SWAP-SWAP

The Glendale Daily Press Will Start a Special Swapper's
Column in Its Want Ad Section on Saturday, June 23

Clean Out That Attic, Storeroom or Cellar!

Swap the Things You Don't Want! Get in Return the Things You Really Want and Need!

It's Fun to Swap!

Remember how, as a boy, you were always swapping a knife for a ball-bat; a fish-pole for a sling-shot; anything for everything? Wasn't it fun?

Of course, swapping is fun. It always has been; it still is; it always will be. Thousands of people who read the GLENDALE DAILY PRESS are going to have fun swapping every day.

Every day their SWAP-ADS will be published. Hundreds of people will read each ad. All sorts of swaps will be made—phonographs for radio sets, pigs for chickens, chairs for tables, dogs for cats, automobiles for vacant lots, washing machines for lawn-mowers—any thing for everything.

You can share in the fun. Be a swapper! Start now. Decide at once what you want to swap and send in the SWAP-AD today.

Swapping Saves Money!

Usually it takes money to buy something new. But swapping is different.

The swapper needs no money. He simply takes the things he already has and does not use—things which may really be nuisances to him. By swapping these he gets in return the things he really wants. He spends no money. It's easy, isn't it?

You can be a swapper if you wish. Fill in the blank at the opposite lower corner of this page today.

GOING EAST? SEE THE ROAD AT THE KELLY MOTOR CO.

Complete Film of Trip Through "Land God Forgot," Free

Daring death in a motor car trip through some of the wildest regions of the southwest, and bringing to Glendale a complete motion picture of cross-country driving through "the places that God forgot," Kelley Motor company present free to the public an entertainment which will be remembered by many a long day by everyone who comes to the show room, 230 North Brand boulevard, between 7:30 and 10 o'clock.

Rarely, if ever, has the world had the opportunity to see the equal of the Hudson pictures. They are educational, thrilling and entertaining beyond belief. Here we see a young woman driving her motor car through Death valley, the petrified forest of Arizona, the Grand Canyon of the Colorado, and to the age old pueblos of the Hopi Indians on the painted desert. Thrill follows thrill in this wonderful drive across the wastes of the southwest.

We see, as though we were actually driving the car ourselves, the great sand dunes of the desert, the bleaching bones of men and animals who succumbed to the dread demon, "thirst," and we shrink with fear at the approach of the very edge of that deep gorge, the Grand Canyon of northern Arizona.

Seen through the eyes of the camera as the Hudson speedster pushes its way through the Salt Sinks of below sea level on the floor of Death valley, we grow dizzy as the car reels drunkenly onward over dunes and across the rough places of this desolate region.

Telitha Watson, pitied her skill and the reliability of her car against odds which would have made the hardest drivers of the world quail. That she won against heat, thirst, sand and storm is a tribute she pays to the genius of man in building a car so dependable that she named her Hudson "Old Reliable" at the conclusion of her 4100 mile picture drive.

The public is invited to partake of the hospitality of the Kelley Motor company, 230 North Brand, tonight when the Hudson pictures will be shown free to all in a continuous performance from 7:30 to 10 p. m.

Actions of "Younger Set" Aboard Ship Complete Surprise to Older Travelers.

"Just a Song at Twilight."

New York. The belief of many persons that all the younger folk think of nowadays is jazz dancing and the singing of jazz songs is a fallacy that is easily disproved by those really familiar with the pleasures and pastimes of the younger generation. The opportunity for observing the real likes of the growing generation as far as recreation is concerned is perhaps more clearly offered to the passengers on trans-Atlantic liners, during the tourist season, than to any others. Then many school girls and college boys, making trips abroad, may be studied under conditions unusually interesting, and many popular beliefs concerning their methods of entertaining themselves entirely shattered.

A recent party of young tourists aboard the President Arthur of the United States Lines, eastbound from New York to Bremen, proved entirely different from what the majority of older passengers had expected. True, they did considerable dancing of the modern school whenever the orchestra struck up a popular dance number, but dancing was most evidently not the paramount thing in their young lives. The girls took a great interest in the "housekeeping" department of the big liner, and under the guidance of the "Mistress-at-Arms" of the President Arthur watched stewards making up staterooms, preparing the dining saloon for meals, making arrangements for special luncheons, etc. They studied carefully the manner in which the food for hundreds of passengers was cooked and made ready to serve, storing the knowledge thus obtained away for possible future use in their own.

The young men, several of whom had seen service in the naval forces during the war, busied officers about the operation of the ship, visiting bridge and engine room for hours at a time in an effort to obtain information of value. Their intelligent questions concerning the liner delighted the officers, who took great pleasure in explaining a hundred and one details concerning the ship control and propelling machinery.

Deck games occupied a goodly part of the time of the young people, who, however, did not spend their time when not so occupied in idle chatter, but in reading books from the ship's library, generally treating with the European countries which they intended visiting. Questions concerning contemplated tours to various cities were repeatedly asked of more experienced travelers in a genuine search for knowledge, and not from idle curiosity.

Perhaps the greatest surprise given the older members of the ship's company was the evening song hour which the youngsters arranged in the social hall the first day at sea. When, at twilight, one bobbed-haired miss took her place at the piano, and the others grouped themselves about the instrument, a great outburst of "jazz" was looked for. A shock, a pleasing one, it is true, but a shock at that, was registered on the other passengers, when, instead of the strident bars of "Toot, Toot, Tootsie," the group softly, and in excellent harmony, sang "Stars of the Summer Night."

Then followed "Just a Song at Twilight," "When You and I Were Young, Maggie," "My Old Kentucky Home," "Swanee River," and other of the old popular selections, in which the older cabin passengers, attracted by the songs dear to their own memories, joined, their last belief that the younger set are wild and frivolous banished forever.

This evening "song fests" became very popular with everyone aboard the President Arthur, both young and old eagerly awaiting the time when setting sun signaled the hour for indulging in the songs of yesteryear.

Shelby, Mont., has been picked as the site for a fight between Jack Dempsey, the well-known coal magnate, and Thomas Gibbons for the heavyweight championship of the world. The question naturally arises whether the promoters picked the town as a good place to hold a fight or a good place to hide one.

Shelby is a town in Toole county, northern Montana. Only one railroad line touches it, and it does so reluctantly. The last census report gave the population as under 1000 white men. Nevertheless, Dempsey has been guaranteed $300,000 for his share in the entertainment. This is the largest salary ever guaranteed any act on the "small time circuit."

How Shelby can get away with it, and, if so, why? is the question agitating the world of sport and high finance. That it is starting the battle for publicity purposes is the general assumption, and a good many people think the fight will be a prelude to the marketing of a Shelby suspender, Shelby cigarette, Shelby collar, or Shelby underwear.

One thing is fairly certain: If the Shelby thing is a success the sporting world may forsake the big cities and start doing its stuff in the great wide-open spaces.

Peacham, Vt. — The Peacham Board of Trade is arranging for a match between Luis Firpo and the winner of the Dempsey-Gibbons fight. All that is holding up the match is a feeling on the part of some Peacham citizens that $300,000 is too much to pay for advertising purposes when Colonel George Harvey is doing the work for nothing. Peacham is a nice little town of 700 people, all of whom are 100 per cent British-American, according to the colonel. It is conveniently located on the Pitt and Miss Railroad system, and can be reached easily by letter or radio.

Applesauce Corners, Wyo.—The world's series will be held here next October, it was announced today at a conference of the leaders of the National and American baseball leagues. "New York, Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit, and St. Louis are nice cities in their own way," said Ban Johnson, "but it is almost impossible to lose money in them. I feel, and the various team owners are with me, that the time has come for us to stage the world's series in some small country town where we can feel certain of a big deficit."

R. D. WHITE TO KEEP BUSY ALL THE SUMMER

Mrs. Richardson D. White and daughter Hester are leaving Sunday night for the middle west where they will visit friends in Salt Lake City, Kansas City, St. Louis and Benedict, Kansas; the home of Mrs. White's father. They expect to be gone from six weeks to two months and during the absence, Mr. White will take in the N. E. A. convention which is meeting this year on the Pacific coast. He will leave Saturday night, June 30, for Oakland and will return the following Saturday.

He expects to have plenty of occupation during the summer in connections with problems involved in the school building program, and in working out district lines for next year and new courses of study.

A good many changes will be made in the curriculum on which principals and teachers have been working for several weeks. Most of their reports are in and it will take some time to digest them and formulate an outline for use in the schools.

WALL PAPER IS IN MUCH DEMAND AS ART MOTIF

Glendale Wallpaper and Paint Co. Stages Big Sale of Standard Patterns

"There is a great demand for wall paper," said Wm. Hunter, owner of the Glendale Paper & Paint company, 119 South Brand boulevard. "We are having a wonderful response to the sale of wall paper, and have selected 10,000 rolls of standard wall paper to offer to the public."

George Miller, who has had wide experience in the wall paper business in the factory and retail business, has taken charge of the wall paper department and is managing the sale. Mr. Hunter states that Mr. Miller has brought many new ideas into the business. He comes to Glendale from Alberta, Canada, and has chosen this city as his place of residence.

GIANTS AND YANKS LOOK LIKE WINNERS

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

Unless a couple of times are setle down upon them, the Giants and the Yanks should be in a position to figure how much money they are going to make out of the 1923 world's series before September is very long on the way.

Both the champion clubs got away good and piled up leads that would make them favorites for their third straight pennant, even if there were some strong opponents in the field against them.

In the National league it is almost a cinch now that the Giants will win the pennant. John McGraw has a tremendously powerful ball club and the opposition that the west was expected to present did not live up to predictions.

The Pirates, from early season form, looked like the only rivals that the Giants had for the pennant and they apparently are missing something some place.

The Reds were a disappointment and the Cards, without Hornsby, will get no place in the pennant race. The Brooklyn Robins pulled a sensational comeback after a terrible start, but they do not look like a contending club.

While the Yanks haven't a team to compare with the Giants they are running away with the American league pennant race.

All of the western clubs fished badly to live up to expectations. The White Sox were the biggest disappointment of the year. The Cleveland Indians fell down and the loss of George Sisler ruined the Browns.

Ty Cobb has been troubled with an inflamed full of holes and his pitchers did not deliver as he expected them to.

Connie Mack's Athletics were the big surprise of the early season. They have a good young ball club that is going some place in a couple of years, but they are not ready to upset the Yankees this year.

With very poor secondary defense, the Yanks would be in a bad way if any of the infielders ran into some bad luck.

Mike McNally and Ernie Johnson are the only players Miller Huggins has to fall back on. McNally is a good ball player, but he is not strong enough to go through a hard season. Johnson may be a good ball player, but every club in the league with the exception of the Yanks, waived on him when the White Sox put him on the block.

Gazella, a football and baseball star from Lehigh, has been signed by the Yanks, and he might step into stardom, but "Frisches" don't happen every day.

While major league ball club owners are willing to pay fortunes for untried ball players, it seems strange that Fred Merkle is still playing with the Rochester Internationals.

Merkle is batting over .400 and he recently batted safely in 32 consecutive games. He is a veteran player and a smart player, despite that "boner" thing.

The St. Louis Browns are desperately in need of a first baseman to take George Sisler's place, and the Cleveland Indians have not recovered from the mistake they

COLUMBUS P. T. A. STARTS DRIVE FOR BOOKS

Plans Opening of Children's "Summer Library"

"Everything has a future," says the Columbus P. T. A., "even the long-pensioned books of your boys and girls fast growing into men and women. Here's how:

"An enthusiastic drive has been started by the P. T. A. of the Columbus avenue school for a children's summer library.

"Room has been provided and the girls and boys of Columbus avenue school are sorting out the books that were so intensely interesting to them to establish this new library.

"Here is an opportunity to renew the youth and usefulness of the shunned pages which once delighted the hearts of your own girls and boys.

"WHEN YOU BUY ADVERTISING YOU BUY CIRCULATION"

DO YOU SAVE ENOUGH?

BANKERS say that saving money is largely a matter of habit—of systematically putting away something every pay day—of consistently thinking in terms of thrift.

The bankers are right. But remember that thrift embraces buying as well as saving. It is "penny wise and pound foolish" to save by scrimping and yet spend money needlessly in making your every-day purchases.

Has it ever occurred to you that every day you can save something simply by reading the advertisements in this paper? Do you realize that the advertisements tell you just where and when to buy to advantage—that they tell you how to avoid regrettable expenditures?

Thrifty folks realize that advertising has reduced the selling cost of thousands of factories and stores. Many of the things that today count as necessities or simple luxuries could not be sold at anything like their present prices had not advertising created a broad market for them. It has made millions of sales at small profit where otherwise there would be thousands of sales at large profit per sale.

So, you owe a great deal to advertising. And you owe it to yourself to read advertising.

WHY "POOR LO"

"Lo, the poor Indian, whose untutored mind, Sees God in clouds and hears him in the wind." From this couplet of Pope has been evolved the familiar "Poor Lo." Many have used it probably without the slightest knowledge as to its derivation. They do not recognize the "Lo" as a misplaced and abused exclamation, and, knowing something of the status of the Indian, deem the description adequate. They think themselves simply to be calling the aborigine a poor Indian. So he is, thanks largely to an Indian bureau devoted to keeping him this way. The bureau is quite useful as a repository for red tape in which it is swathed. It is useful also to sundry attaches, who are looking out for themselves, and not for the Indians.

Some of the people of this country feel a warm sympathy for the downtrodden of Europe. A far greater number lament over the suffering at the Near East and elsewhere. So deeply are they stirred by various spectacles of distress, that they overlook the vast and continued wrong perpetrated against the Indian in the name of the whole nation. There are American writers in plenty who protest against the infliction of wrongs upon the Indian. The big-hearted McGroarty, a student of the subject, tells the truth concerning it in his own poignant fashion quite often. Walter J. Woolke, in Sunset, has added much of definite information. The facts ought to make every white American blush. One tribe of Indians driven from their holdings were granted certain California lands. Some of these were in lava beds utterly and hopelessly barren. A few were at the crest of lofty Mt. Bidwell.

So intrenched is the Indian bureau that no influence seems able to disturb its buttressed selfishness. It does as it pleases; which is precisely, to refrain from doing anything. It is touched neither by the plea of the sympathetic white, nor the pitiful wretchedness of the red man.

BREAD ON THE WATERS

Montana financiers, in putting up a ridiculously large sum of money to induce two pugilists to pose in mutually hostile attitude, may think they are casting their bread on the waters. There is no record that such event ever has benefited any community yet. Perhaps these financiers have some peculiar gift of vision that enables them to foresee accurately the reversal of the rule. The occasion will draw many spectators, each with some money to spend. A large proportion will be of the class not engaged in legitimate business; mere hangers-on of sports, so-called. The newspapers will be represented, of course, and each correspondent will pay his way. The sprinkling of substantial business men present will not be there for making any more serious investment than a bet on the outcome. When the ropes are down, they will be on their way home, and when the arena has been dismantled Shelby will settle back into the old routine. Dempsey and his followers will have most of the money.

Pugilism is popular, there is no use to deny it, but when it has become highly professional, and the purses represent huge fortunes, it is tinged with fraud; equally useless to deny this. As to fights of the magnitude of the forthcoming one, the weight of the contenders and the weight of the prize, probably there never has been a square one, and never will be. The relative skill and prowess of the fighters may determine the result, and may not. All depends upon what will be most profitable for the management.

How the Montanians figure that by giving space for this sort of affair there is to be any substantial or permanent gain, is a mystery. Doubtless there will be something extra in the income of the hot-dog vendor, and the flimsy hotels will for a time charge Broadway rates. That will be about all.

GRANDMOTHER'S DAY

A grandmother aged 104 has just been elected queen of a fete about to be given in the Puget Sound country. To win this honor it was necessary for her to do some lively campaigning, because she had the opposition of a lot of beautiful and strictly modern flappers, each wishing to wear the crown. She traveled among the voting populace by automobile, and though she did not drive the machine, she was urged that the driver, "step on it." If old age is slow, this sprightly lady is the exception; or perhaps she has not yet reached the stage at which her impulses are those of old age. It may be that the eternal youth in earnest quest of which many are engaged, has come to her. Anyhow, grandmother is having her day. Quite right, too.

Mother's day is established. Yearly the observance of it becomes more and more a rite. Father also has been honored by celebration of his worth and usefulness, appreciation often expressed by the gift of a tie, accompanied by kind words. He receives a bill for the tie on the first prox. thereafter. But all the while grandmother, often the most essential factor in the household, has been overlooked. Every day is her day, but no special note is made of it. She gives the youngsters advice, pocket money, and perhaps a cuff on the ear, a duty the later style of parent is prone to neglect. It seldom falls to her lot to be queen of a fete, and she is uncrowned, save as her goodness forms a halo.

Perhaps grandfather's day will be putting in an appearance next, but it is not so important. Grandfather is likely to be set in his ways, a little grim as the result of long contact with circumstance. He would not ask more than to shine in the reflected glory of grandmother's merited honors.

CHARM AND CHARMERS

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

While reading this golden afternoon with the general idea of finding something interesting about which to write I ran across an article on charm.

Of course the writer, being masculine, had feminine charm in mind. He is a distinguished author gifted with a rare intellect; yet he was absolutely convinced that one of the chief duties of women in all walks of life is to be charming. By that you will please understand that the duty devolved on them to charm the men.

Basically I fancy the "duty" is nothing more than a business move. Men control the purse strings; when charmed their hold on the shekels relaxes; hence charm, and secure. Good enough; in a business world I favor business methods.

If to motherhood, wifehood, the task of housekeeper, nurse, head cook, seamstress, general supervisor of a domestic establishment, hostess, companion and educator women must specialize on charm to get out of their husbands what they have earned, why all I say is specialize. Says the famous author: "When men come home tired at night they long to feel a woman's charm about them."

No doubt, but after all, when during the husband's absence from the fireside, his wife has been practicing intermittently about ten professions, she herself needs a little charm in which to bask.

Why should all the charming be done by one side? Merely, I fancy, because the side that has to sing siren songs needs the money they bring. If women controlled the income how long would it be before some energetic young cub tore open his collar and the convulsions in his brain and began to write a column about the "Duty" of husbands to charm their wives.

Gentlemen, women enjoy being charmed after marriage fully as much as they enjoy attention before marriage. Do they get it?

Well, I cut this from a metropolitan paper this very afternoon. It comes from Chicago and shows why men "charm" their wives.

Mrs. Ida S. Abelson kept house on $25 a week while her spouse attended the races, presumably because on her allowance she was unable to appear sufficiently charming. Anyhow, he left her at home, and for her spiritual improvement left these eight rules, all written out:

"Show love, show sympathy, be happy, be jolly, learn to give and take, remember the word apologize and use it, respect me, live on the allowance you get."

That's how many husbands "charm" their wives when they come home from business and before they leave for the races—alone, maybe.

Now I'm strong for loving one's husband—when possible, but for the benefit of other dominant males who may have leanings like unto those of the Chicago Abelson I'd like to suggest a few rules, and workable ones at that. Here they are:

Merit love, invite sympathy, so fill the souls of your wives with admiration and appreciation that happiness and jollity will overflow spontaneously, give as much as you demand and take as much as you demand they shall endure, be as quick to apologize as to ask an apology; earn respect and there will be no need to demand it, and finally, if you value your love and have any sense of justice, split your income with your wife 50-50 after all bills are paid and the savings account cared for.

Charming the male is a fine art, but it can be overdone. Charming the female is a pastime of premarital days as many a disillusioned wife too well realizes.

What's a duty for one marital partner is at least worth trying by the other. Gentlemen, try for a bit to charm your wives. It will reduce the business of the divorce courts mightily, and it might make some of the tired business men feel as young as goat glands.

THE RIGHT WORD

By W. CURTIS NICHOLSON

R. G. Disbrow, White Plains, N. Y.: "I have always been taught that the phrase 'to enclose herewith' is incorrect. You may say 'am handing you herewith,' but the verb 'to enclose' implies that it is herewith, therefore to repeat herewith is superfluous. Am I not correct in my understanding?"

Answer: You are correct.

Miss Rachel Smith, Clarksville, Iowa: "In your column I find, 'Right: Did you buy two pairs of gloves?' I don't understand. Would you also say 'two mile of roads,' or 'two bushel of apples?' How about an adjective's agreeing with its noun in number? And won't you say something about an expression that (or which?) we frequently find in newspapers and magazines, and hear in conversation—'cut in half'?"

Answer: "Cut into halves" is correct. It is also correct to say "two pair of gloves." The word pair may, without alteration, be preceded by any number; as, one pair; ten pair. But one should say many pairs. "Two bushels of apples" is correct. In the foregoing query, of the two words, that and which, that is correct.

THE LISTENING POST

My Dear Boy:
I have your request.
That you would have me give you advice.
As to the world and your place in it.

What you are to do.
How you are to do it.
What things you are to avoid.

I appreciate your confidence and trust in me.
And I wish I were capable of giving you such advice as would enable you to steer a straight course.
To avoid pitfalls.
To achieve success.
For that is, I take it, what you want.

I answer your letter with a good deal of trepidation and humility.

For I am not sure of my ability to guide you. I can write you a few general principles. But you will find them in any book of good sense and good morals. And good morals are merely applied good sense.

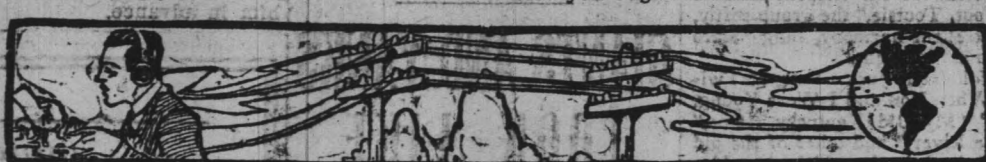

I can tell you to rise early and work late. But that depends on what you are doing. You might waste a good deal of time rising early and working late if you were sowing wild oats.

Better rise late and quit early if that is your task.

Few general principles will always apply. Somebody says that nothing is as useless as a general maxim.

Silence is golden, the maxim says.

But if you were being held up and robbed, silence might not be golden if a good stout cry would bring you aid.

CRIMINAL FOREST WASTE

By DR. FRANK CRANE

THE waste of forest lands by Americans is astounding to foreigners.

Particularly, Sweden, Germany and France are amazed at our profligacy.

Nowhere is the recklessness of Americans more conspicuous than in their treatment of trees.

Trees mean life, health and prosperity to a country. It is worse to waste trees than it is to waste money.

In waste land area where trees once grew but on which nothing grows now, the United States leads the world by a disgracefully large margin.

This waste area, according to the New York State College of Forestry, presents a territory larger than New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Maryland combined.

It means a larger area than the combined forest lands of Germany, Belgium, Denmark, Holland, France, Switzerland, Spain and Portugal.

Besides this we have another vast acreage of semi-devastated waste land, says the College of Forestry. This is the College of Forestry. This means land that has been cut over and is now producing only one-fourth of the forests it should grow. This region is almost as large as all the states of the Atlantic seaboard.

Still worse. These vast tracts are being increased annually by three or four million acres. At this rate many of our virgin forests will last no more than twenty-five years.

Still again. The United States leads all the nations of the world in forest fires, which total thirty thousand annually. During the five years ending 1920, approximately 9,000,000 acres were burned with an estimated loss of $85,000,000.

It surely is time that the public mind should be awakened to the significance of these alarming figures.

And it is time that intelligent government should take a hand in preventing this criminal waste.

Why speak of thrift only in terms of putting money in the bank? Far more important is the thrift that consists in conserving our great supplies of natural wealth.

Few things that nature gives us are more important to the life, the health and the industries of man than the tree.

Forests not only produce lumber for building, but they determine rainfall and floods and they are useful in a hundred other ways.

France, it is said, utilizes her forest trees so closely that she obtains one-seventh of her lumber from trees that grow along canals and rivers and between lots.

There are mountain slopes in Corsica where land is worth two or three hundred dollars an acre because of the nut trees growing on them. Similar slopes on just as good land in American mountain ranges are worth practically nothing because there has been no intelligent tree planting.

One trouble is that Americans are accustomed to think only in terms of quick profits while properly to take care of trees means that people should think in terms of longer than a span of human life.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

FOREIGN IN SPIRIT

[Washington Post]

A New York financier presents the use of the term "international" as popularly applied to certain bankers who are known to deal largely in foreign securities and who are closely identified with large foreign financial transactions. But why quibble over names? The American people know that the interests of certain bankers differ more or less, from those of strictly domestic bankers. They also know that such bankers have from time to time registered views that startlingly resemble those expressed by foreign governments in arm's-length dealing with this country.

They may not be "international" bankers, but, by any other name, some of them are as much at variance with home views as if they were. Every time international debts have come up for public discussion certain bankers have consistently urged their cancellation. Those advocates of a line of action that the Washington government, as the representative of the great American majority, has so steadfastly refused to follow were classed as international bankers, not only because of foreign connections, but of championship of foreign demands. This was not an accidental classification, nor was it altogether a misnomer.

Bootleggers threaten to kill each other in Chinese tong fashion. Perhaps this will help solve a vexing problem.

Senator Lodge still shows his republicanism by trying to defeat the republican administration.

In return for having murdered a policeman Phil Alquin has received assurance of board and room for life, and seems quite pleased.

The Pennsylvania railroad is to pay the government $90,000,000, clearly a reversal of the customary process.

Senator Brookhart of Iowa has found a Russian diplomatist who wears no necktie, and has been deeply impressed. Nothing like getting facts at first hand.

Probably you are a trifle ashamed at not having displayed the national colors flag day.

Miserable prices received for the effects of Bernhardt show that the sentiment concerning the actress expended itself mostly in gush.

Ex-Senator Pettigrew eloped at the age of 75, on the theory that his marriage concerned him and the woman in the case.

A county justice recently reported as under indictment appears to be doing business at the old stand. Seems a little odd.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

There are decided symptoms of a war among members of the underworld in Los Angeles. Such episodes have been observed in New York and Chicago frequently. They are much to be deplored as to certain aspects. When the underworldlings begin shooting, some of the bullets are likely to go astray, pinkie or penetrating persons not associated with the imbroglio.

It may be taken for granted that there is war all the time between society and the secret and sinister troopers of crime. Respectable citizens are murdered whenever such course may seem to be expedient. Officers of the law, presuming to interfere, are killed. Out of the depths comes a malign influence that corrupts and blights. Bribery is a common agency on the part of criminals. They hire lawyers to defeat and defy justice. Therefore the war is continuous.

Looked at in one way, a war confined to the criminals might be regarded as beneficent. If they are able to wreak upon each other a crude sort of retribution, thinning the ranks of the army of evil, the moral uplift might be appreciable. More could be accomplished in this fashion than the machinery of the courts has managed to accomplish.

One criminal shoots another. The friends of the victim lay the assassin out cold, and so the rude but effective reform gets started. Chinese with their tongues and their hatchet men find the method satisfactory.

But of course such war may not be permitted. Society, finding that one pest and parasite has slain another of the breed, is forced to deal harshly with the second, instead of permitting the process of elimination to spread.

An explorer in far lands reports that he has found a tribe that drinks nothing but water, and being unacquainted with fire, eats its food raw. It is strange that lightning, or spontaneous combustion should not have given some inkling of other heat than that of the sun's direct ray, but perhaps a little detail of this sort is not worth mentioning.

Doubtless, now that the path to the fastnesses of this strange people has been opened, they will learn of other drinks than water.

In refusing to pardon Otis Berry, the governor took the only course that could have won approval. This man had been convicted of swindling, his associates being figures of the underworld. Some of them notorious as bunco men got to the penitentiary ahead of the ex-banker. There has been no suggestion that they be pardoned.

Berry had every chance that the law allows. He appealed while there remained any court to which to appeal. Then he asked the governor to pardon him, which was about equivalent to saying "Oh, forget it."

The government thinks that it was swindled in the sale of goods and chattels pertaining to Camp Kearny. So far there seems to be excellent ground for the suspicion. For example, goods were sold at $10,000 while other bidders were trying to raise the bid, their overtures ignored by the auctioneer.

Uncle Sam may at times seem to be easy, but his pride is hurt when he is made victim of so raw a game.

Knowing that a Los Angeles man had $30,000 worth of diamonds on his person, robbers entered his office, hit him over the head, and went away with the valuables. It is not too much to say that this sort of procedure is becoming annoying.

Stinnes seems to have most of the money of Germany, and a large share of troubles. There appears to be in his case an absence of all the qualities that incite to affection.

Just at this time he is accused of selling to the French the iron of which they make cannon. Probably he is doing this. He would prefer selling iron to hoarding it.

There hardly could be sillier talk than that in relation to the queen of San Quentin.

No queen reigns in San Quentin. In that melancholy retreat are a lot of women, down to the world, burdened with regrets, bitter with hatreds. Doubtless some are better than the others, but there are no queens among them.

Indictment of eighteen men and women as co-conspirators in one whiskey ring. It is to give pause to the socially respectable type of bootlegger.

Of course it is great fun to break the law and drink to the extinction of the eighteenth amendment, but upon being caught the jollity of the occasion fades away.

The people of Turkestan have appealed to England for protection against the Russian reds. It may be seen from this that the time for laying down the white man's burden has not quite arrived.

One tiresome fake ought to be eliminated from pugilism. This is the pretense that accounts of the preliminaries are written for the papers by the principals.

For the most part the fighters could not write enough English to fill a postal card. Nevertheless long and smoothly constructed stories carry their signatures. Anybody unaware that the stories are fakes must be unaware of most of the plain facts that they meet.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

Every pleasant afternoon Old Doc Henneberry lets his practice go to the dogs and rambles about the golf course batting frantically at a small white rubber ball. The other day he read what Mr. Samuel Vaucain, the greatest builder of locomotives in the world, had to say about golf. Mr. Vaucain allowed that it is a waste of time.

"If you are doing something worth while you have something to show for your time at the end of the day," said he in effect. "But when you play golf all you have left is the ball."

Doc Henneberry says that he often has not even the ball to show. But he has kept a dozen more or less elderly men out of cold, damp graves by compelling them to waste their time on the links.

"Vaucain may be right," said he. "Perhaps it is a waste of time to keep one's self alive and happy and with a good digestion and sound nerves. The difference between Vaucain and myself is that when he gets through with his day's work he has a locomotive to show."

Some of his dozen physical derelicts get frightened now and then, when they read that some other elderly gentleman has puffed his last puff just after addressing himself to a pill. But Henneberry cheers them up. He says that golf is like everything else. It must be played with common sense. An old man cannot play as much or as fast golf as a kid. Tired, fatigued, blue-lipped, saggy-eyed old men should walk slowly from hole to hole. They should not play too many holes. They should always stop before they are desperately fatigued and go back to the clubhouse.

"They'll lie anyhow," says Doc Henneberry philosophically. "They might as well lie about the number of holes as about the number of shots per hole."

They cannot cheat the Death Angel forever, of course. After all, says Doc:

"There is no finer place than a nice, green, sunny golf course on which to die."

HISTORIC REVUE OF MOVIES IN L. A. JULY 2

Final Details Are Worked Out for Big Exposition

LOS ANGELES, June 20.—With actual construction of the "Exposition city" completed and an army of decorators and landscape artists adding their finishing touches to the picture, practically everything is in readiness for the grand opening of the American Historical Revue and Motion Picture Industrial Exposition to be held in Los Angeles, July 2 to August 4.

Final details are now being worked out for the presentation of the big historical pageant, commemorating the hundredth anniversary of the Monroe Doctrine, and the many other spectacular features of the celebration. Contracts have been signed by the exposition management, with more than 100 noted singers, actors, impresarios and producers of pageants and striking entertainment acts, who will participate. Arrangements have been made through the World Amusement Service association with Theodore Kosloff, noted Russian dancer, and Emil de Recat, famous producer of pageants to stage the historical revues and ballets.

The first tableaux will depict the primitive life of the American Indian before Columbus and conclude with some recent history-making event. Kosloff's ballets will portray "The Fall of the Aztecs," "An Easter Night in Russia," and a "Ballet of World's Nations," showing characteristic dances.

The "Aztec City" that has been built to house the exposition blends with the atmosphere of old Spain with the crude beauty of the Latin-American cities. The main thoroughfare is the Esplanade, lined with palms and embanked with flowers and tropical plants. In a lily pond near the entrance will be a statue of President Monroe, brilliantly illuminated.

All exposition activities will radiate from the Court of Honor, an area way massed with flowers, situated between the two glittering Aztec towers.

The most spectacular feature of the exposition will be the picturization of "Montezuma or the Fall of the Aztecs." More than 500 persons and tons of fireworks will be utilized in the production of this mammoth feature, said to be the most elaborate pyrotechnic display ever produced. It will be staged in the new Coliseum, seating 80,000 persons.

TODAY

Yes, there are countless yesterdays,
With all their archives laid
In mouldering graves and tombs away.
And all their records made.
They sleep within the arms of time,
The dust above them deep,
Nor all the lure of song or rhyme
Shall call them back from sleep.

They came, they were, they are no more,
And all their smiles and tears are o'er.
Their battles lost and won.
Their loves, their hopes, their joys, their fears
All laid in tombs away,
A thousand yesterdays of years,
But only one today.

How many morrows time shall see
No wisdom now can say,
As many morrows there may be
As were of yesterday;
But time that was and is to be
Shall serve not any way
Or purpose for you or me,
So shall we live today.

Today alone is yours and mine,
To live, to love, to do,
Today alone the sun shall shine,
Today the sky be blue.
So no dead yesterday shall haunt
My dreams, strive how it may,
Nor shall the fear of future dawn,
But let me have Today!

AWAITING THEM

Several graduate students of the commercial department of Glendale high are already in positions. Margery Sherman, the expert typist who was in several contests, is employed in the Glendale city hall. Theo Payne has a comtometer position with a wholesale grocery house in Los Angeles. Mary Brown is employed by the Montrose State bank.

He was a head master in an English school and his name was Key. He was trying to interest his boys in manners and customs abroad. Talking of Spain, he said: "Now, in Spain when a man attains to eminence he is not called 'sir,' but is given the title 'don.' If I went there, for example, I should be styled 'Don Key.'" And he wondered why they laughed.

ORPHEUS FOUR WINS FRIENDS WITH CONCERT

Tuesday Afternoon Club
Room is Filled by Audience

The Orpheus Four gave one of its great concerts at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse last night under the auspices of the Young Men's Bible Class of the First Presbyterian church. The large club room was well filled by a most appreciative audience. Dr. Gilkerson made a short talk introducing the quartet.

The program occupied the greater part of two hours, and was a varied one, embracing, as one of the members of the quartet said, nearly every kind of songs written. The Orpheus Four demonstrated that it can handle any kind of music and can adapt programs to suit audiences. It gave several sacred numbers, which brought back to the mind of the audience vividly the fact that there are many of the old songs which will never grow old, and that none can take their places. To enumerate the numbers given would not only mean the repetition of the program in yesterday's Glendale Daily Press, but the addition of a dozen more numbers, including darkey plantation and southern melodies, which produced one of the big hits of the program.

This makes the fourth time the Orpheus Four have come to Glendale, being here two years ago with the Ellison-White Chautauqua, and upon three other occasions. The reputation of the Orpheus Four is national, and their work is wonderful. Several members of the chorus of the Orpheus Club, including Olie Andressen, W. L. Hyde and Mr. Searles, were among the "number present" last night, and whom with Dr. Gilkerson are responsible for bringing this great entertainment to Glendale.

Oswald had the habit of asking for something to eat whenever he happened to be at a neighbor's house, so his mother told him he must never do such a thing again. The next time he returned from a visit to the neighbor's she asked him if he had begged for anything to eat. "No," he replied, "I didn't. I was just talking to myself about how hungry I was and they heard me."
